Process Work Institute presents

TEENS RISE UP

Summer Youth Intensive

July 16 - 20, 2018

This 5-day intensive workshop is for teens aged 14-18 who want to develop their leadership capacity, build new friendships, impact their communities, and have fun doing it!

Teens will engage in creative activities to increase personal power, find their unique gifts, build communication skills, strengthen relationship and facilitate conflict within themselves and in groups.

The course will gather a diverse group of young people with a variety of backgrounds and life experience. The diversity of the group will offer youth the opportunity to learn more about difference, explore the roots of conflict and to find their authentic voice and the courage to use it.

This Summer program provides an opportunity for youth to:

- Find their authentic power, creativity and talent
- Get along with differences and power dynamics
- Feel comfortable with a wide range of diversity
- Develop confidence
- Deal with bullying and become an engaged bystander
- Develop grit and fortitude through struggle and obstacle
- Learn real-life conflict facilitation skills
- Be the change they wish to see

Teens Rise Up believes that a compassionate and empathic youth community contributes to the betterment of our world.

We support youth in their own leadership by teaching them to believe in their innate creativity, to appreciate internal and external diversity and to forge real relationships across differences. We teach them the skills they will need in order to recognize, work with and resolve conflict.

Colleges and employers look for youth who demonstrate leadership, responsibility, and the ability to work with others.

The week culminates in a celebratory BBQ for families, friends and community. The youth lead us in a lively presentation of their learning complete with video, skits, music, dance and spoken word.

Youth come away from our programs with a sense of purpose and empowerment, knowing they can make a difference in the world.
